By SUSANNE INDELICATO
Staff writer

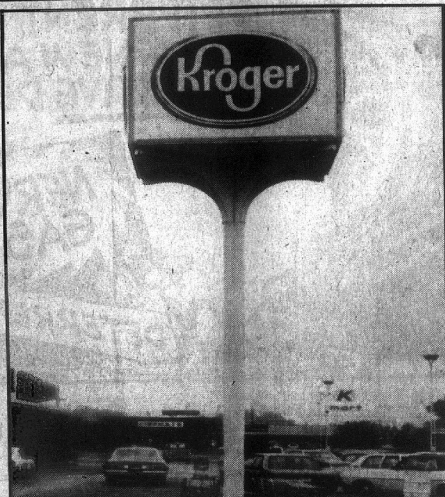

GRANITE CITY — The Kroger Food Store at 3401 Nameoki Road is moving to bigger quarters in the Nameoki Village Shopping Center.

The store will move to vacant space once occupied by the 905 Liquor, Mason's and Tratter's stores and the Nameoki Bingo Center, according to Fred Christian, manager of Nameoki Village Shopping Center.

THE MOVE means a new building will be built for the bingo center and the entire shopping center will be remodeled with new canopies, lights and a new parking lot, Christian said.

In fact, a building permit for $225,000 worth of new construction has been issued for the new bingo center, which is to be located behind the existing Kroger store. The new bingo center will cover 12,000 square feet.

Kroger officials have not signed a new lease agreement with the shopping center, Christian said, but all (See KROGER, Page 3A)

Site to be cleaned

VENICE — A hazardous waste site at 1226 Bissell St., Venice, operated by Jerry-Russell Bliss Inc., has been ordered cleaned up within 21 days, pending further court action, according to Attorney General Neil F. Hartigan.

A preliminary injunction granted Tuesday, following a hearing in Madison County Circuit Court at Edwardsville, orders the Jerry-Russell Bliss firm to remove and properly dispose of all toxic materials at the Venice site.

IT ALSO PROHIBITS the company from placing any other materials in the tanks on the site and limits the firm's access to the land without court permission.

The action follows an investigation by the Attorney General's Toxic Waste Strike Force.

The investigation showed that two tanks on the site contained hazardous materials that included trichloroethene, benzene, naphthalene, toluene and phenol, among others. In issuing the injunction the court found the materials posed a substantial damage to the environment.

THE AREA AROUND the site is mixed residential and industrial. The Bissell Street Apartments and a private housing development is within 200 yards of the tanks.

"It is vital that we continue the fight against hazardous and toxic waste in Illinois," Hartigan said.

"The safety of our families is dependent upon our willingness to force the proper disposal of these materials and to clean them up where necessary," he said.

Hazardous waste investigators from the state's strike force and an analyst from a Wisconsin laboratory, where samples from the site were tested, were among those testifying at Tuesday's hearing. Dennis Orsey, an Illinois assistant attorney general, said Friday.

THE JERRY-RUSSELL Bliss firm is to "remove all materials from the tanks as soon as possible and in no event later than 21 days after the date of this order," the document states.

The injunction was signed Thursday by Chief Circuit Court Judge Philip J. Rarick, who presided at Tuesday's hearing.

Should the waste hauling company fail to comply with the court order, the Jerry-Russell Bliss firm would be found in contempt and further legal action could be taken, Orsey said.

DISPOSAL of the materials in the tanks must be in compliance with the Illinois Environmental Protection Act and Pollution Control Board Regulations, the court said.

The attorney general's suit also asks for a permanent injunction to prevent the company from further violations of the Illinois Environmental Protection Act and fines of up to $25,000 a day per violation.

Also named in the suit is GMI Corporation, a Missouri corporation that owns the land.

GMI OFFICERS have been cooperating fully with the attorney general's office, and Wayne Brent, GMI president, also testified at Tuesday's hearing, Orsey said.

Neither Bliss nor the company's attorneys were present Tuesday.

The hearing was postponed at an earlier date because the St. Louis County Sheriff's Department apparently was unable to locate Jerry Bliss and serve him with a subpoena.

JERRY-RUSSELL BLISS Inc., formerly called Bliss Waste Oil Hauling Co., was owned by Russell Bliss, a Missouri waste hauler, who allegedly sprayed dioxin-contaminated waste oil on roads, parking lots and horse arenas in Missouri and Illinois in the early 1970s.

The company's permit to haul waste in Illinois was revoked in August 1984 when the attorney general's office won a contested suit against Jerry-Russell Bliss Inc.

The case stemmed from a 1982 incident when a Bliss tank truck sprayed contaminated oil in the Venice railroad yards.

Helicopter ride brings back memories of war

By SUSAN SIGNAIGO-WEICH
Staff writer

When I was a little girl, I remember asking my mother about the Vietnam Conflict.

She didn't say so, but she was worried about my brothers. Three of them served in the U.S. Army during the conflict.

I was too young then to catch most of the details of the war. Partly out of curiosity, partly out of an effort to understand it, I've made an effort to inform myself about Vietnam.

I've seen movie after movie, documentary after documentary, read article after article.

I found myself being more and more interested by every fact I learned. I even created a file at the office with newspaper clippings about Vietnam veterans and soldiers listed as Missing in Action.

So, when I was recently offered a ride in a "Vietnam vintage" helicopter with the Army, I jumped at the opportunity.

Although the helicopter was not one of the aircraft used in the war, I was enthusiastic about the chance to ride in one like those I had seen in the movies.

I arrived at the Aviation Systems Command hangar at the St. Louis Area Support Center and I stopped in my tracks when I saw the UH-1H (nicknamed "Huey" by servicemen).

It wasn't that the helicopter was shiny — compared to other helicopters I have seen it was rather unimportant looking. I couldn't help thinking of its importance for servicemen who were injured during the war.

The helicopter was large — it holds 13 men, counting the pilot and co-pilot. In war times, the aircraft was mostly used to carry stretcher patients.

The helicopter is constructed of very light materials. Reasoning was, the lighter the aircraft, the more men it would carry.

Sgt. Anthony Vandiver, the co-pilot, told me the construction of the vehicle wasn't always an asset, especially if the aircraft was under fire.

"Have you ever seen the movie, 'Apocalypse Now'?" he asked.

Of course I've seen it. I've seen just about every movie about Vietnam.

"Do you remember the scene where the serviceman was handed a helmet to sit on?" he continued.

"Yes," I said. "Is it really true that he could have been shot through the bottom of the aircraft?"

Vandiver half-smiled.

"It's true," he said. "That's why the pilot's and co-pilot's seats are more heavily insulated than the rest of the seats. You can't afford to get the pilot shot."

"Right," I said to myself. I envisioned the tragedy that would follow. After a short safety demonstration and a systems check, Capt. Daniel B. Mack, the pilot, started up the engine.

The whir of the craft's single blade was very choppy at first. Strapped into my seat, the motion of the craft brought to mind what a bus ride might feel like in fast forward.

Once the blade got in gear, the aircraft's legs started to pick up off the ground, almost by themselves.

The next thing I knew, we were airborne, rising straight up off the ground.

Mack told me the aviation practice grounds enabled Army pilots to test required maneuvers and fly time hours.

He demonstrated some of the maneuvers. One of them I remembered seeing in the film "Purple Hearts." It was used for picking up passengers.

The helicopter lowered down into a field, almost to the ground and remained hovering until all of the "passengers" climbed aboard.

We did a surveillance move, where the helicopter peaks up over the top of a hill, to see what type of action was going on over there. We quickly lowered down again, because the hill was inhabited by "the enemy" and we didn't want to be fired on. I remembered seeing that move on "Magnum P.I.," a television show often about Vietnam veterans.

The sight of the houses and buildings on the ground was surprisingly sharp from our viewpoint.

We flew over a reserves unit working on the tanks — I could see details of their faces. I raised my hand to wave to them and they waved back.

I used to wave at helicopters when I was younger. I never really thought they saw me — they did.

Army pilots must have seen a lot of "details" of the war, I thought. Our air speed for the trip was 100 mph, which sounds fast, but it seemed unbelievably slow.

We seemingly trudged across the contour of the land. Raising up for trees and roller coasting down into the fields.

Before I knew it, we were back at the hangar. Our almost three-hour trip seemed like minutes.

The trip wasn't a trip back to Vietnam, but it made me more aware, in a small way, of what some soldiers might have seen and felt.

I realized why my mother wore a worried look on her face all those years.

'Blue Thunder' continuing

WASHINGTON — Even as you read this story, hundreds of federal, state and local law enforcement officers are swarming through northern California's isolated and rugged hills in search of marijuana farms and gardens.

They are catching a lot of pot growers, seizing a lot of weapons and pulling a lot of cannabis plants out by the roots. That's good.

But they are also violating the constitutional rights of a lot of innocent citizens, and that is not good.

We first reported last March that U.S. District Judge Robert P. Aguilar had determined that agents involved in the annual exercise — known as the Campaign Against Marijuana Planting — were harassing hapless residents with helicopters, intimidating innocent citizens and conducting searches without warrants.

One family was ushered out of their home and held at gunpoint while officers conducted an "identification check." An innocent householder had been harassed by helicopters while seated in his outdoor. A woman said she was "continually buzzed" while taking outdoor showers.

The judge felt compelled to order the Drug Enforcement Administration and other agencies involved to respect the Fourth Amendment rights of citizens whose only crime is to live in areas where marijuana is being grown. A federal appeals court upheld the order.

Our story angered California Attorney General John K. Van de Kamp, who accused us of doing "a great disservice to the state's anti-drug efforts." He did not address what we believe to be the paramount issue: the sanctity of the Constitution and its prohibition of unreasonable search and seizure.

Aguilar's order has had little effect, according to attorneys representing a number of local residents who claim the drug-busters are still abusing their personal and property rights. The latest allegations are detailed in a letter, sent by our associate Donald Goldberg, which was filed with the court and with the U.S. attorney's office in San Francisco.

Here are some examples: — On July 15, 1985, "Anne Johnson" was reading in her home. She heard footsteps outside. She walked outside and looked around the side of the house where she observed (an agent) walking away from the house with a large rifle slung over his shoulder. He had no search warrant or other authority to be there.

— On July 18, Christine Brosz and James Scott were routed from their camper in Mendocino County by law enforcement officers. They were told to get dressed — "with Mrs. Brosz being observed getting dressed by four troops" — and were held for three-and-a-half hours before being released.

— Bob Dale, a Gopherville resident, was sitting on his outdoor

when (an agent) with a rifle came over to him. His trailer was searched, and he was detained with others.

The attorneys representing the residents asked the U.S. attorney's office to investigate the allegations. John Penrose, the assistant U.S. attorney handling the cases, said the new charges would be looked into, but he believed Campaign Against Marijuana Planting officials were abiding by Aguilar's injunction.

CENSOR'S MISTAKE: Federal bureaucrats often wield their secrecy stamps like censors' scissors and "classify" every piece of paperwork that could possibly be embarrassing if it leaked out. But sometimes, genuinely sensitive information is spread around with little thought for security.

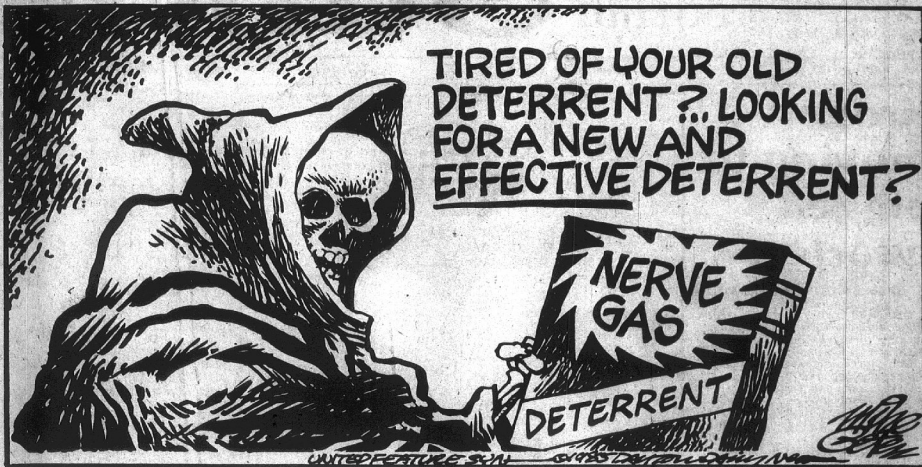

A case in point is the Energy Department's detailed, publicly available blueprints for a gaseous-diffusion plant at the highly sensitive Oak Ridge facility in Tennessee. An expert on terrorism examined the thick, slick book of plans for us. He concluded that while technically nothing in the plans and diagrams violates the letter of the classification laws, the document as a whole would be extremely helpful to terrorists planning to attack the facility.

A spokesman for Oak Ridge said the publication had been thoroughly reviewed and the decision had been made not to classify it because all the information was available from a variety of sources. True, said our expert, but the compilation of the plans and information in one document would make the terrorists' job easier.

UNDER THE DOOM: Sen. Paul Sarbanes, D-Md., asked university presidents in his state to estimate how many students would have to drop out if all of the Reagan administration's proposed cuts in student aid were enacted. The results from 31 Maryland schools: 14,010 out of 163,042 students would have to quit.

— Rep. Henry Waxman, D-Calif., chairs a House subcommittee on health. He is also a physical fitness fanatic who exercises regularly. So he was the natural choice of Overeaters Anonymous to address the group on its 25th anniversary. No, said his aides, the congressman doesn't have a weight problem and his eating habits are spartan.

A notice to parents

Your views

MAX REDMOND is the new superintendent of Granite City Community Unit District 9. The first school year under his command starts Tuesday.

child is expected to do? Do the parents talk to their children about what's happening at school? Do the parents assist the child with homework? Do the parents attend parent/teacher conferences? Do the parents participate in P.T.A. organizations?

The second important factor is how the child uses out-of-school time. Does the child spend too much time watching television? Does the child spend some time every day on homework? Does the child go straight home from school? Does the child talk about school work or activities? Does the child talk about school accomplishments? Other factors which influence learning are:

- Chronological age — The child's maturity level.
- Ability — Achievement level or performance on standardized tests.

- Self-concept — The child's level of motivation.
- Time on task — The amount of time a child spends on particular learning tasks.
- Quality of instruction — The experiences offered to the child by the school.
- Classroom atmosphere — The way the teacher relates to the students.
- Peer Group — Who the child chums with or spends the most time.

All the above are factors and important factors, but we must remember that the chief influence on learning is home environment. Yes, parents, you are the most important factor regarding your child's education. The more you expect of your child the more you will get. Expect a lot this year.

Common Cause members praised for their efforts at reform

To the Editor: Thanks to the efforts of Common Cause members around the state, a bill to reform gubernatorial campaign financing in Illinois has passed the legislature and has been sent to the governor.

Who gets elected and who has the ear of those elected will increasingly be determined by money, rather than individual voters. They are told to get dressed — "with Mrs. Brosz being observed getting dressed by four troops" — and were held for three-and-a-half hours before being released.

— Bob Dale, a Gopherville resident, was sitting on his outdoor paig financing of candidates for governor. It would curb large contributions from special interest groups and wealthy individuals, and it would set up a voluntary income tax checkoff system modeled on the very successful presidential system. Similar systems are already working well in 17 other states.

Why do we need it? In 1982, over $8 million was spent by candidates for governor and lieutenant governor. This was double the 1978 total, and 1986 may again see a doubling of campaign expenditures — millions of dollars from special interest groups and wealthy individuals, sometimes in single donations of tens of thousands of dollars.

If we don't stop it soon, "check-book politics" will overwhelm the ability of ordinary citizens to affect not only elections but public policy as well. Candidates will be more concerned about their treasury than the issues. They will more likely be influenced by special interests and big contributors than by the needs of the public.

There is even a danger to democracy in that as state politics becomes more beholden to large contributors, more individual voters will become disillusioned and drop out of participating in elections altogether.

This would in turn enhance the power of special interests more and perpetuate a vicious cycle.

Let the governor know you want clean elections and candidates responsive to the people, not to big contributors. Take a few minutes and write today!

Kitchen Band brilliant

To the Editor: I wish to congratulate the Senior Citizens' Kitchen Band for their performance in the recent Downtown Sidewalk Sales Day.

I happened to be on 19th Street that day shopping when I heard the music across the street. They sounded so happy and put some gaiety in the spirit of the occasion that I crossed the street and joined them in the "God Bless America" song.

The seniors had their crafts they made on display to earn money for the benefit of the seniors' programs.

When my shopping was finished, I came back to the corner to get my bus. I noticed them cleaning the space they used to sell and entertain at the entrance of the Washington Theater building. I have not seen it that clean in a long time.

I hope another occasion will arrive so that they can repeat their cheerful performance. Congratulations to the seniors for helping make Downtown Day come alive.

The makers of 'healthy' granola bar are kidding themselves

The makers of granola bars have gone too far.

I remember some of the first commercials for the wholesome snack. They showed children riding their bicycles, with candy bars in hand. Then, like magic, the candy bars were changed into granola bars. The kids rode off into the sunset with a smile on their faces.

The point of the commercial, so I thought, was that snacks don't have to be candy-coated for people to like them.

I used to take granola bars for my dessert every day when I was in high school. I felt good about eating the snack — it was good tasting and good for me.

Then about a year ago, the granola bar people came out with a product called "Dips."

They took that wholesome snack and covered it with chocolate — a product high in calories, caffeine and sugar.

Columnists' club
Susan Weich

I got coupons for the product, but I never bought them. If I wanted chocolate I would buy candy.

About two months ago, I saw a coupon for another spin-off of a granola bar, this time they were calling it "Whips."

This product is a wholesome granola bar covered with peanut butter.

I love peanut butter, and it is high in protein — but why are these people messing with a granola bar? Weren't granola bars selling?

The upper to it all came yesterday, though. When I was clipping coupons, I noticed still another granola product — a "Dandy Bar." Believe it or not, this is a granola bar covered with caramel and chocolate.

I guess in the next commercial campaign, the granola bar makers will show children riding their bikes, candy bar in hand, and then like magic, the candy bar will be changed into a "Dandy Bar."

Candy bar, "Dandy Bar." They not only sound the same, but they are the same.

Maybe granola bar prices are going through the roof in the stock market. Maybe that's why it seems like there is getting to be less and less granola in a granola bar.

Why couldn't they leave well enough alone?

I still buy plain-old granola bars. Not only are they good — but they are getting to be a rare sight on the grocery shelves.

I used to know exactly where to find the item in the store. Now it takes me five minutes to find the snack — it's usually hidden in there somewhere behind the "Dips" and "Whips."

I guess now I'll have an even harder time of finding them with "Dandy Bars" adding to the display clutter.

From a marketing standpoint, granola bar makers are pretty smart. They decided years ago they wanted to go into the candy market.

They first came out with a non-candy bar. Now that they've turned people on to wholesome food, they're combining wholesome food with junk food.

Their next step will be to get rid of the wholesome food altogether. It'll probably be introduced as a peanut butter bar covered with chocolate and caramel. They'll probably call it "Granola No."

I don't know how other consumers feel. But I'm disappointed. They've gone too far.

Many calls to this office deal with our policy on shoplifters

Most calls coming into this office about police reports concern how we deal with shoplifting.

Two or three calls a week are normal.

The shoplifters, or their family members, ask that the arrested person's name not be in the paper.

The surest way to keep an arrest out of the paper is not to commit a crime and not to be arrested.

But many people will not take advice.

Some shoplifters seem to think they are exempt from arrest

The media mandarin
Jack Ventimiglia

because their thefts are usually petty. They are not exempt, of course. Shoplifting results in a police record, and the record is available to the press.

But we do not print shoplifting stories, unless there is a secondary charge, such as resisting arrest. The volume of shoplifting arrests would make it difficult to print them all.

Which should make some shoplifters happy, especially around the coming Christmas (Shoplifting) season.

However, for those who like to go shopping, you might keep in mind that a newspaper can change its policy.

Perhaps we could print the names of those arrested for shoplifting, perhaps just during the holiday season, from October through December.

It's just a thought. We may not do so since we would certainly have a great many shop arrests to put into the paper.

On the other hand, if it would make some people realize there are consequences to being involved in shoplifting, maybe they could be persuaded to stop.

We'll be thinking about it.

County judges investigated

By TERRY HILLIG
 Allegations of misconduct against some Madison County judges are being investigated by the Illinois Judicial Inquiry Board, according to a pleading filed Wednesday in Circuit Court in Edwardsville.

Complaints were filed with the board by former state's attorney Don W. Weber and others, according to a motion filed on Weber's behalf in response to a lawsuit in which Weber is alleged to have wrongfully fired former assistant state's attorney Susan Jensen.

WEBER'S MOTION asks that Jensen's suit be assigned to a judge from outside the Third Judicial Circuit. All judges of the circuit are prejudiced against Weber and all may be called as witnesses in the litigation, the motion says.

City firefighter sues for back pay, damages

GRANITE CITY — Punitive damages and back pay are sought in a suit filed against the city by one of its firefighters.

The suit seeks $5,200 in back pay, $5,000 in punitive damages, court costs and attorney fees. The suit was filed in the Madison County Third Judicial Circuit Court Aug. 13.

In the suit, David Houston states he was appointed a probationary fireman for the city on Feb. 1. Houston resigned as a teacher in the Riverview Gardens School District so he could accept the job in Granite City.

However, he reportedly did not begin work for the city until April 28.

Houston's appointment was delayed because of a question about the fire department's hiring list. The man ahead of Houston on the list, John Miller, had not lived in the city for one year prior to Miller's application. The commissioners therefore passed over Miller and hired Houston.

In subsequent litigation by Miller, Associate Judge Charles V. Romani Jr. decided the city's residency requirement is not constitutional. Miller was subsequently hired in addition to Houston.

The suit demands Houston be paid from Feb. 1 to April 28. It further states the city refused to pay Houston.

 Call LUEDERS AGENCY
 877-0388

The motion also says more than five months before Jensen filed her suit in July, Weber and others had filed complaints regarding the conduct of local judges and that, to the best of Weber's knowledge and belief, the investigation continues.

The conduct involved in the complaints and the matters involved in the Jensen suit are "factually inseparable," the motion says.

IN ADDITION, the motion says Weber anticipates third party complaints against the plaintiff's husband, Keith Jensen, and, "with regard to nonjudicial activities."

Investigations by the Judicial Inquiry Board are confidential, director Ray Breen said.

Weber declined to elaborate on the complaints filed with the board. He said he would have preferred not to have made public the filing of the complaints, but was forced to do so by the Jensen suit.

"I DIDN'T WANT this all to be brought back into the public forum," said Weber. However, he said he thought he had no choice but to bring the complaints to light and request an out-of-circuit judge.

Rarick, who is now the circuit's chief judge, said his only knowledge of an investigation by the Judicial Inquiry Board is from the newspapers. O'Neill declined to comment.

In another pleading filed by Weber in the Jensen suit, he contends the complaint should be dismissed because there was no express employment contract and Mrs. Jensen's employment was "terminable at will."

Cable TV installation now $25

By VALERIE EVENDEN
 Staff writer

VENICE — A $25 installation fee will be charged new cable television subscribers in Venice, Mayor Tyrone Echols announced at the Aug. 20 meeting of the Venice City Council.

For the past year, South-Western Cable TV Ltd., which holds the franchise in Venice, has offered standard cable service installation without cost or for a minimum fee of $15.

The reduced charge was made available during a re-marketing campaign and, from time to time, the cable company will run "specials" with reduced installation fees, William W. Rouggy, South-Western general manager, explained.

THE $25 INSTALLATION rate is the full amount allowed by the franchise and went into effect Aug. 1.

A new $10 fee also has been added to subscribers' rates in the Venice service area, Rouggy said.

The new charge, listed as a "trip charge," was instituted in response to problems occurring with customers to be disconnect for non-payment.

"CERTAIN CUSTOMERS have made a habit of not paying their bill until our technician comes out to disconnect their service. This expensive method of collecting our amount due cannot continue," Rouggy said.

The general manager hoped that by instituting the charge customers will pay their bills on a more timely basis.

"That way, we will be able to avoid using a technician's time in such an unproductive manner," he said.

The new Kroger store will be bigger, going from 20,000 square feet to 47,000 square feet. That could mean additional jobs in Granite City, Christian said.

The total investment, including the shopping center remodeling and remodeling on Kroger's part, is estimated at $2 million, Christian said.

Retailers laud check legislation

A bill expanding the Illinois Criminal Code's definition of deceptive practices, which earlier won the support of merchants throughout the state, has passed the Illinois Senate and House and has been sent to Gov. James Thompson.

"SB-297 specifies that a person who knowingly writes a bad check upon receipt of a bill, statement, invoice or request for payment has committed a deceptive practice punishable as a Class A misdemeanor or Class 4 felony upon repeated conviction," said David F. Vite, president of the Illinois Retail Merchants Association.

Knowledge of the crime is defined to failure to have sufficient funds on deposit or in credit, or to have the check in question dishonored twice at least seven days apart. The amount of the check must exceed $150 or cover the entire amount owed.

The proposed legislation, which is awaiting action by the governor, was sponsored by Sen. Frank Watson (R-Carlyle) and Dale G. Beck, 49, of 5 Barbara Court, the driver of the third car, Marjorie L. Bettag, 37, of 304 Bernice Ave., was not injured.

The Lettermen, recipients of nine gold albums, will perform in March. Their concert, "A Little Romance," features a serenade of love songs, including "The Way He Makes Me Feel" and "What I Did for Love." The Mantovani Orchestra concludes the Pops at Powell season in April. "All the Things You Are," "Anniversary Waltz" and "Swedish Rhapsody" are included. ## Pasta salads help cool down summer

Macaroni Vegetable Salad

Marinades easy

Marinades, easy and convenient, enhance barbecued foods with special flavor and juicy tenderness. One type of marinade is based on acid. An acidic marinade includes ingredients like wine, tomato sauce, soy sauce, yogurt, citrus juice or vinegar. Combined with herbs and aromatics, this type of marinade penetrates and tenderizes the meat while flavoring. When a tenderizing effect is desired, marinate 24 to 48 hours in a refrigerator for best results.

Is there some way to make hot summer days a little cooler? Try these delightful cold pasta salads. They are full of protein, B-vitamins, iron and important complex carbohydrates which give energy, a real plus in hot weather. Both salads can be prepared in minutes, leaving more time for favorite summer activities like golf, tennis, swimming, gardening, or resting.

These great tasting salads, each substantial enough for a main course, contain less than 300 calories per serving.

Macaroni Vegetable Salad

2 cups elbow macaroni (8 oz.)
1 qt. bite-sized spinach leaves (about 1/2 lb.)
1/2 cup thinly sliced carrots
1/2 cup oil
3 tbsp. lemon juice
2 tsp. grated onion
1/2 tsp. pepper
1 tsp. salt

Cook pasta according to package directions. Drain in colander. Rinse with cold water. Drain again.

Mix together oil, lemon juice, onion, salt and pepper.
Toss pasta with 1/2 cup dressing. Chill thoroughly.
Add spinach, carrots and radishes to chilled pasta. Pour over remaining dressing and toss gently. Serves 4.

Peach jam

4 cups prepared fruit (about 3 lb. fully ripe peaches)
2 tbsp. lemon juice
5 1/2 cups (2 lb. 6 oz.) sugar
1 box (1 1/4 oz.) powdered fruit pectin
Peel and pit about 3 pounds peaches. Grind or chop very fine. Measure 4 cups into 6- or 8-quart saucepot. Add lemon juice. Measure sugar and set aside. Mix fruit pectin into fruit in saucepot. Place over high heat and stir until mixture comes to a full boil. Immediately add all sugar and stir. Bring to a full rolling boil. Boil hard 1 minute, stirring constantly. Remove from heat and skim off foam with metal spoon. Ladle quickly into hot jars, filling to within 1/4 inch of top. Cover and process in boiling water bath 5 minutes. Makes about 6 1/2 cups or about 7 (8 fl. oz.) jars.

Pasta sauce

For a meatless vegetable sauce to serve over pasta, start with sweet onions. Peel 1 large or 2 medium onions, chop to measure 3 cups. Heat 1/4 cup oil in large skillet. Add onion, 3 minced garlic cloves, 1 large tomato, chopped, and 1 green pepper, chopped. Sauté until onion is tender. Sprinkle with mixture of 1 tablespoon flour, 1 tablespoon paprika, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon pepper and a pinch of sugar. Stir to coat vegetables. Add 1 cup sliced mushrooms and 1 1/2 cups chicken broth. Bring to boil and simmer until desired consistency. Remove from heat and add 1/4 cup sour cream. Serve over choice of pasta. Makes 4 servings.

"C" for bones

Vitamin C is necessary for healthy tissue wound and bone healing. It helps increase resistance to infection and utilizes iron. Excellent sources of Vitamin C are citrus (oranges, grapefruit, lemons), strawberries, kiwi, baked potatoes, tomatoes, green peppers and cabbage. Cook to retain vitamins in vegetables and fruits, using a small amount of liquid over a high temperature for a short time by steaming, boiling or stirfrying. Rather than fried or in a salad with mayonnaise, potatoes can be boiled or baked for optimum nutritional value.

Plum salad

1 large head butter lettuce
Creamy Dressing
8 fresh plums
8 oz. gouda, gruyere or samsoe cheese
Rinse and chill lettuce. Prepare Creamy Dressing. At serving time, line 4 individual serving plates with lettuce leaves and divide remaining lettuce among plates. Slice plums and cheese into thin strips. Arrange on each plate. Serve with Creamy Dressing. Makes 4 servings. CREAMY DRESSING: Mix together well 1/4 cup dairy sour cream, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 2 teaspoons prepared mustard, 1 teaspoon sugar, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon ground cumin and 1/4 teaspoon white pepper. Stir in 2 tablespoons green onion, finely chopped. Makes 1 cup dressing.

Pasta stew

1 lb. ground beef
1 can (16-oz.) stewed tomatoes
1 can (15-oz.) tomato sauce
1 can (15-oz.) mixed vegetables
2 cups water
1/2 cup spaghetti, broken in small pieces
1/2 cup ketchup
1/2 cup chili seasoning mix (regular)
1/2 tsp. salt (opt.)
In large saucepan, brown beef; drain fat. To beef, add remaining ingredients; bring to a boil. Reduce heat to low. Cover and simmer 45 minutes. Makes six to eight servings. Note: 1 package (10-oz.) frozen mixed vegetables may be substituted for canned.

Quick bread

1 loaf (16-oz.) French bread
1/2 cup (1 stick) butter or margarine
1 tsp. chicken seasoning mix
Preheat oven to 375°F. Slice bread either straight or diagonal, not slicing all the way through, leaving bottom crust intact. In small saucepan, melt butter; stir in chicken seasoning. With a pastry brush, spread the top and sides of each slice with seasoned butter. Cover the loaf with a piece of foil. Place bread in the oven and cook 20 minutes until lightly browned. Serves 6 to 8. Note: Slice thick or thin to taste. Foil wrapped bread may also be placed on a medium hot grill until heated through; turn occasionally.

BBQ ribs

3 1/2 lbs. pork spareribs
Water
1 can (15 oz.) tomato sauce

1/2 cup tomato ketchup
1/4 cup white distilled vinegar
1/4 cup fresh lemon juice
1 small onion, minced
2 tablespoons sugar
1 tablespoon plus 1 teaspoon chili seasoning mix (extra spicy)
1 1/2 teaspoon liquid smoke

Rib Preparation
Cut pork spareribs into 2-rib portions. In 4-quart Dutch oven, cover spareribs with water; bring water to a boil. Reduce heat to low; cover and simmer 1 hour or until spareribs are fork-tender. Remove ribs to large platter; cover and refrigerate. Prepare outdoor grill for barbecuing.

Barbeque Sauce
Meanwhile, prepare sauce. In medium saucepan, bring tomato sauce, ketchup, vinegar, lemon juice, onion, sugar and chili seasoning to a boil. Reduce heat to low; simmer 30 minutes. Remove from heat and add liquid smoke. Makes approximately 2 1/2 cups sauce.

Grilling
Place cooked spareribs on grill over medium heat; cook 20 minutes until heated through, brushing occasionally with barbeque sauce and turning ribs often. Makes 3 to 4 servings. Note: For additional sauce, double recipe.

Occupied soon

NEW LOCATION FOR KROGER. Three vacant stores in the Nookville Village Shopping Center, 905 Liquors, Mason's and Trotter's, will be completely remodeled during the next six to eight months and will be the new home of the Kroger Food Store. The store plans to move to the new location next spring. The area was originally the W.T. Grant department store.

Foreclosures decline

SPRINGFIELD — The number of foreclosures at Illinois savings institutions declined sharply during 1984, according to a spokesman for the Illinois League of Savings Institutions.

Illinois League Chairman Thomas J. Martin said according to foreclosure data compiled by the Federal Home Loan Bank Board, Illinois savings institutions foreclosed 40 percent fewer mortgage loans in 1984 than 1983. Martin said in 1984, foreclosures among Illinois FSILC-insured thrifts totaled 4,340 — 2,939 fewer than in 1983.

Martin, who also is president of Clyde Federal Savings and Loan Association, North Riverside, Ill., said the drop in the number of foreclosures is a reflection of the economic turn-around, the strong underwriting practices of savings institutions and effective forbearance procedures.

The annual rate of foreclosure in 1984 at Illinois savings institutions, according to the Bank Board, was 0.438 percent. In other words, Martin said, only 4.4 of every 1,000 loans held by Illinois savings institutions were foreclosed upon in 1984. The national average foreclosure rate in 1984 was 0.367 percent. In determining the annual rate of foreclosure, the Bank Board compares the number of foreclosures during the year to the average number of mortgages held by FSILC-insured institutions.

The Illinois foreclosure rate dropped more sharply than the U.S. rate between 1983 and 1984, according to Martin. The Illinois rate dropped over 25 basis points between 1983 and 1984 while the U.S. rate dropped only 4 basis points (1 basis point equals 1/100th of one percent).

Illinois was among the 34 states which experienced declines in their foreclosure rates between 1983 and 1984. Last year, 15 states had higher foreclosure rates than Illinois. None of the 50 states had foreclosure rates higher than one percent, Martin said.

The Illinois League of Savings Institutions is the statewide trade association serving the state's 273 savings and loan associations and savings banks.

Granite City considered for steel plant location

GRANITE CITY — Heidman Steel Products Inc. announced plans last week to build a $150 million strip steel mill, and Granite City is a possible site for the plant.

The Toledo Ohio Steel Company is considering several other locations for the plant, including sites in Monroe, Mich.; Windsor, Ontario, Canada; and Toledo, Ohio.

It is reported the company will choose the site offering the best financial package.

Heidman Steel announced the plans to employees last week, along with the purchase of the former Interstate Steel Property in Toledo.

Mayor Von Dee Cruse said Friday he is excited about the company's consideration of Granite City as a possible site.

Cruse said the Leadership Council of Southwestern Illinois and the Regional Commerce and Growth Association have been working together to prepare a package to solicit the mill.

Mary Kane, executive director of L.C., said Friday she could not comment on the details of the group's work.

Nadine Boone, a representative of the RCGA, also declined to comment on the soliciting being done by the groups.

An official who asked not to be identified said the groups have been providing information on several sites other than Granite City in the area.

Plant officials plan to use the sight for processing a wide tolerance steel, a process which is currently only being performed outside of the United States.

Heidman Steel currently operates a $7 million steel pickling plant in the Northgate Industrial Park, Granite City. The plant opened in December of 1984.

Warning issued about health club operations

"Numerous dissatisfied members" was a statement issued by the Better Business Bureau to describe the complaints against Vic Tanny International.

The BBB reported that since Jan. 1, 1982, it has received 90 complaints against Vic Tanny's area clubs. Five recent complaints have gone unanswered, while five others are pending.

The majority of complaints allege questionable sales practices, including high-pressure sales tactics, misrepresentations and inability to cancel contracts.

One woman alleged that her son, who suffers from a disability, was talked into signing a membership contract with Vic Tanny, despite the fact her son is illiterate. The contract was sold to a finance agency who also is requiring payment, even though proof of his incompetence was provided.

Some consumers have reported that the finance company to which Vic Tanny assigns its contracts has continued to pursue them after the contracts have been paid off. Others have complained about the physical condition of the Vic Tanny clubs, such as inadequate air conditioning, broken equipment, facilities too crowded, swimming pool not properly maintained and lack of hot water. The company has either denied that such complaints were valid or has said the conditions are remedied promptly.

The bureau has received complaints from parents of 18- and 20-year-old children who signed contracts with Vic Tanny, some of whom had not made the monthly payments.

Some consumers stated they assumed they could stop using the health club facilities at any time and would not have to make further payments. However, under the terms of the written contract, consumers have no right to cancel after three days.

The BBB recommends when considering joining a health club facility be sure to thoroughly read and understand the contract before signing. Many contracts are sold to finance companies. If the club goes out of business or if customers are unable to use the facility, they should determine what their obligations to the finance company will be.

Consumers are reminded that "lifetime" memberships are not necessarily their lifetimes, but the life of the company.

Also, when visiting a club, consumers should allow themselves to be high pressured into signing a contract. A percentage of people who sign contracts discontinue using the spa in the future. Requests for membership cancellations are frequently denied. A reputable club will allow time to consider joining without pressure.

Work begins on AP center

By DAVE WHALEY
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Work has begun on the new Air Products and Chemicals Inc. distribution center.

A building permit was issued Aug. 12 to the company to begin building at a site in the Northgate Industrial Park. The site is approximately six acres and is located behind the Precast Metals plant on Route 3.

A spokesman at the company said Wednesday construction began there last week and would take about six months to complete. The building permit listed the cost of the construction at $329,112. Ralph Korte Construction Co. is doing the work.

THE DISTRIBUTION CENTER is now located at 100 Arlington Drive, but the company announced it will move to the industrial park March 22. The firm built its distribution center on Arlington Drive in 1979 because there was no room for it at its plant on Monroe Street.

At that time, the company was told the distribution center would be relocated within a couple of years, but hard economic times led to a delay, according to Harold Humphries, terminal manager for the plant.

Air Products and Chemicals Inc. is a worldwide distribution and manufacturing plant of cryogenic liquids such as hydrogen, nitrogen, oxygen and argon. It is headquartered in Allentown, Pa.

IT WAS ANNOUNCED in March the expansion would mean eight to 10 new jobs, but Humphries was out of the office Friday afternoon and could not confirm that.

The city has also issued 18 other permits in the month of August totaling $288,732 in construction and repairs. Most of that total ($225,000) is going into the construction of a new building at the site of the Nookville Village Shopping Center.

Repacking urged

The Illinois Retail Merchants Association has urged Gov. Thompson to sign into law a proposal allowing retailers to repackaging sound, errand eggs from cartons containing cracked eggs.

HB-468, sponsored by Rep. Jim McPike (D-Alton) and Sam Vinson (R-Clinton) and Sen. Vince DeMuzio (D-Carlisle) and John Friedland (R-South Elgin), provides safeguards for grocers who wish to repackaging eggs. Currently, if a carton contains just one cracked egg, then all of its contents must be destroyed or returned for repackaging.

"Illinois is one of the last states that prohibits repackaging of sound eggs," said David F. Vite, president of the Illinois Retail Merchants Association.

Paloson Beach Village Board 7 p.m. Tuesday, Aug. 27, Township Hall.

Madison City Council 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, Aug. 27, Madison City Hall.

Granite City Park Board 7 p.m. Wednesday, Aug. 28, Wilson Park Office.

Pyramid schemes stopped

SPRINGFIELD — Two companies operating what is believed to be an illegal pyramid scheme were doing no new business in Illinois pending further court action, according to Attorney General Neil F. Hartigan.

The companies, Activator Supply Company Inc. of Las Vegas and Culture Farms Inc. of Lawrence, Kan., along with Culture Farms President Terry Taylor, have been sued by the attorney general over a scheme involving the marketing and repurchase of milk cultures for cosmetics. In some cases Illinois residents have been induced to pay up to $50 to grow and resell the cultures.

In Mt. Vernon, Circuit Judge Bob

Keenan granted the attorney general's request for a preliminary injunction that will stop the companies from entering into any new contracts in Illinois. It will not prevent them from buying milk cultures from people who have already purchased contracts.

A tentative date of Oct. 7 has been set for a hearing on a permanent injunction in the case.

In addition to the permanent injunction, Hartigan's suit is seeking rescission of the contracts, full restitution, costs and attorney's fees, and a civil penalty of $50,000.

The case is being handled by Gary Duncan and Michael Pasko, assistant attorneys general from the Mt. Vernon regional office.

July retail sales jump statewide

CHICAGO — Illinois retailers reported their highest sales gains since Easter, posting a 7.32 percent increase in July sales over the same month a year ago.

David F. Vite, president of the Illinois Retail Merchants Association, announced the July results of the IRMA/Touche Ross Retail Sales Comparison Report. The 66 firms surveyed, represented by 30 stores statewide, have totaled over $1 billion Illinois sales volume since Feb. 1, the start of the retailing fiscal year.

Two of the three geographic regions showed increases. Metropolitan Chicago reported the highest gains at 9.37 percent, followed by Central/Southern Illinois at 8.46 percent. Northern Illinois reported an overall decrease of 1.48 percent.

The July results are very encouraging, Vite said. "They indicate a return to the healthy sales increase that Illinois had been enjoying for so long. While the last couple months have been slow for retailers nationwide, our state's economy seems finally back on the upswing."

In July, Northern Illinois reported the month's highest increase: a 14.37 percent rise in men's and women's specialty shop sales, followed by increases of 2.37 percent in Central/Southern Illinois and 1.88 percent in metropolitan Chicago for the same category.

Department stores gained an average of 7.91 percent, ranging from a 10.45 percent jump in metropolitan Chicago to a 2.96 percent increase in Central/Southern Illinois. Northern Illinois dropped 1.77 percent under last year.

Shoe, variety and other stores, the report's third category, gained 9.98 percent in Central/Southern Illinois and 5.16 percent in metropolitan Chicago. Northern Illinois decreased 4.21 percent.

Participation in the monthly Retail Sales Comparison Report is open to all Illinois retailers.

GC steelworkers aid striking local

Local steelworkers and chemical workers have collected $11,680 to help fellow workers on strike against Wheeling-Pittsburgh.

Money has been collected for the past three weeks from members of Steelworkers and Chemical Workers 403 and United Chemical Workers 505.

"We would like to express our thanks to the members for their support of this worthy cause," said a spokesman for the unions.

Training Camp

Spirit, competitiveness high at Warrior camp

By GREGG OCHOA
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Want some competition? Just walk over the practice field at Granite City High School and watch the football Warriors workout.

With a week of practice left until their opening game of the season, the Warrior braintrust still have a lot of unanswered questions.

"We'll know a lot more after our scrimmage," said Granite City Coach Ron Yates. "That should answer a lot of our questions."

The Warriors were to hold a two-hour contact scrimmage Saturday, in which Yates hopes to use as a main criteria in naming opening game starters.

Meanwhile, Granite City ended two-day sessions Friday as they were preparing for Saturday's workout.

"That's why everyone's smiling around here," Yates joked.

In a more serious vein, the battles still rage on. "There is a lot of competition," Yates said. "That's what numbers will give you."

As many as 63 players worked out in pads. "We have a good mix about 30 seniors and 30 juniors," the coach said.

"What's also good is that both of these classes were winners as sophomores," Yates said. "Each class won at least five games."

That winning experience should help as Granite City looks to rebound after a 3-6 season that was distracted by a teacher's dispute.

This year the Warriors have been all business in summer workouts.

An off-season conditioning program also got results. "Their conditioning was good. The program is showing some results. Some kids have really gotten stronger over the past six or seven months."

With the departure of several key players, the Warriors will be looking at some new faces. There will be a new quarterback at the controls this year after the graduation of Shane Cole.

A three-year starter, Cole passed for 514 yards and completed 41.1 percent of his passes last year.

At present, senior Ed Goelan and junior Tim Hogan are the top two candidates. "They both have been working out at the position, but nothing completely set," Yates said.

The coach said he will most likely name at starter based on performances in Saturday's inter-squad scrimmage.

"But it's just not at quarterback where there are battles," Yates said.

For example, Yates said three players are battling for the starting tight end position; six are battling for three defensive line spots; and four are seeking two defensive end assignments.

Yates said the battles on the field make for spirited practice sessions.

"It (competition) also tells the coaching staff a lot," Yates said, "whether a certain individual has the competitive spirit or will just lay down and die."

Perhaps the only positions that are established are the offensive tackles and the center. The backfield is pretty much set with four seniors anchoring the ballhandling positions.

The quartet includes Dave Tatum, Pat Keeling, Mike Fenoglio and Ron Owens. Tatum was the Warriors leading rusher last year totalling 181 yards and averaging 3.7 yards a carry.

However, Tatum was unable to work out with the team after injuring an ankle on the first day of practice.

The injury list also includes Tracy McElroy, an offensive tackle. McElroy twisted his knee.

"There was no contact," Yates explained. "Tracy just twisted it the wrong."

McElroy, one of the Warriors captains this season, has been icing the knee regularly but it has forced him to sit out practice sessions. Both are listed as questionable for Granite City's first game Aug. 30.

McElroy said the knee is coming along. "I hurt it when I tried to make a cut," he said.

"That's not too bad when you can get through two-a-days and have only two starters get hurt," Yates said.

"Of course, you would not like to have any injuries."

The Warriors will have four team captains this year. McElroy, David Gushleff, Pat Griffith and Kip Simpson were picked by their teammates from 12 seniors that were nominated.

If there is a theme that Yates and his staff are using this year it would have to be continuity and regime. The Warriors are building, trying to attain a level of intensity and keep it.

"We're working on being competitive. For a school this size there is no reason why we shouldn't be," Yates said. "But we are not kidding ourselves, it's going to be tough especially when you play in the Southwestern Conference."

"We want to be in every game at the fourth quarter, either ahead or right there. If we can do that, then we can give it a good shot and take our chances."

Applications for pheasant, waterfowl permits accepted

SPRINGFIELD — Applications for permits to hunt the state's controlled pheasant hunting areas and state-managed waterfowl areas will be accepted by the Department of Conservation beginning Sept. 9, according to DOC Director Michael Witte.

Permits will be allocated on a first-come, first-served basis until the available quota for each of the hunting areas is filled, Witte said.

"The Department's permit hunting program equitably distributes hunting opportunities at wildlife areas managed by the state," Witte said. "Because the size of the hunting area and the number of game birds available are limited, it is necessary to limit the number of hunters using each site. The only fair way of accomplishing this is to restrict the number of permits issued with a quota system."

To apply for a permit to hunt any of the Department's permit hunting areas, applicants must use an official 1985 permit application. Applications are available from any DOC regional office or by writing the Department of Conservation, Licenses and Permits, 524 S. Second St., Springfield, Ill. 62706.

Eight controlled pheasant hunting areas are available: Chain O'Lakes State Park, near Fox Lake; Green River Conservation Area, near Harmon; Des Plaines Conservation Area, near Wilmington; Iroquois County Fish and Wildlife Area, near Beaverville; Moraine View State Park, near LeRoy; Eldon Hazel State Park, at LeRoy; Lake; Richland County Controlled Pheasant Hunting Area, near Olney; and Wayne Fitzgerald State Park, at Rend Lake.

There are only two goose hunting areas requiring a permit and they are located at Union County Conservation Area near Ware and at Horseshoe Lake Conservation Area (Alexander County) near Miller City.

Rice Lake Conservation Area near Canton is the state's single duck hunting permit area.

Applicants should carefully read the permit application instructions and complete the application form, Witte said. Persons who have questions about the form or who do not understand parts of it should call the DOC Permit Office at (217) 782-7305 for clarification.

Witte pointed out that hunters may apply for only one hunting area for each species and can receive only one permit per year.

"For example, a hunter can apply for a controlled goose hunting permit and a pheasant hunting permit, for KUSA-Radio 55-AM in St. Louis, have been slated as guest speakers for the upcoming annual banquet. Zedolek feels the fund-raising function should be marked on the calendar by anyone who is interested in the future of North America's waterfowl.

"The Ducks Unlimited success story," said Zedolek, "is really starting to spread around. Banquets much like our chapter event held throughout the country last year contributed towards Ducks Unlimited's national fund-raising effort which raised $38.2 million during 1983 alone. But what's even more important to realize," said Zedolek, "is that this national fund-raising total must increase this year if the North American waterfowl habitat race is to be won."

DU's sportsmen/conversationists founders discovered through surveys conducted 45 years ago that 70 percent of North America's waterfowl production occurs in Canada. They figured out back in 1937 what holds true today. Since

Federal duck stamp dollars cannot be spent beyond U.S. borders, sportsmen funds earmarked for waterfowl conservation are not getting to the places where the great percentage of production takes place.

But through Ducks Unlimited's efforts, over $227 million has been raised in the U.S. since 1937. And the lion's share of every one of those dollars has been sent to DU Canada to reserve some 3.3 million acres of prime habitat encompassing over 2,400 wetland projects.

The only problem in all this is that biologists estimate millions of additional acres of habitat must be reserved in order to stabilize North America's waterfowl population. When you consider that habitat today is diminishing due to agricultural and development pressures, and that DU is the only non-profit conservation organization involved in the Canadian waterfowl habitat race, you can begin to see the significance attached to the organization's fund-raising events.

The price of a banquet ticket includes a prime rib dinner, a one-year DU membership and a subscription to the organization's magazine. Following dinner there will be an auction of collector art prints and decoys. Items from such famous artists as Maynard Reece, Lynn Kaatz, and Tom Taber included in this year's auction.

Persons seeking further information about DU or for banquet reservations, persons should call Zedolek at 877-2458.
